Judge Dition is a brother of Sidney Dillon, president of the wants, but now he is the livery stable horse, taxed to death by the Government and prescented and operations that it was delightful to hear him speak. Many other distinguished nen were present, end among the rest Patrick Henry. He was looked upon by this time as the leader of the revolution in Virginis, and soon revolution in Virginia, and soon showed that he deserved the name which had been given him—the "Man of the People."

-As écon as the convention took their keats, he rose and moved that Virginia "be handlately put in a state of defense." This was coming to the heart of the matter he average. 2.00 The following allowances were this to the heart of the matter in a very day made to Justices of the Peace for few words. He meant that the time

9.00 cans intended to submit, then they could go on offering politions; but if 9.00 they meant to fight England, it was 9.00 time to get ready.

As had happened to him in the old House of Burgesses, his proposition met with strong opposition. There were many good patriots who still thought that peace could be made 9.00 with England. They dreaded going to war and shedding blood if they could avoid it; they, therefore, spoke against Henry's resolution, and declared that it ought not to pass. The 9 00 scene was exciting, and lienry list-9.00 ened in slience. When they had finished, he again rose, and his face showed that he was lully aroused. 11 speech arranged all others which 9.00 ho bad eyer delivered, and the whole 9.00 man seemed to be on fire as his voice echoed from the old walls of the church. Isane H. Trabue.—Dear Stephen Troutman, Esq.,—Dear Str. I see you have given Ilon. W. II. Card eleven reasons why he should leave the Democratic party. Pleaso be so kind as to give me a reason why I should leave the Republican party. I am a colored maa, and was a slave before the war, and a soldier three square years. Respectfully yours, Stephen Troutman.

Louisville, Ky., June 3, 1879.—Stephen Troutman, Esq.,—Dear Sir: mit to her. Soldiers were sent to Boston, and as Virginin took part with Masanchusetts, the Governor drove the Burgesses away from Williamsburg. To this they paid no attention, however. As they could not meet there, they determined to assemble in Richmond. A convention of the Virginia leaders was accordingly elected; and in March 1775, they net to consult on the state of the country.

Let's ell go. of specle payment and other measures Brecklurldge, the silver-tongued, of fluancial bearing which have Blackburn, the orator, Carlisle the proven so destructive to the masses of the people and so fattening to the bloated aristocracy, or bondholdera. To those Democrats who are judiced to censure their party for not having nccompilshed more finnuclal relief for the suffering people, we can but say that the Democrats have been in a weak inhority in both houses of Congress for the past fifteen years and all they have been able to accomplish heretoforo has been done through sagacity, not through power. They bave stendily opposed the financial legislation thrust on the people by the Republican party. The attention of every doubting Thomas is directed to the following facia:

The act creating Greenbacks was passed in 1862. The Democrats fought bravely to make them 'recelyable for Customs dues, but the Republicons defeated the nurendment. The first bonds issued were the 10-40s, payable in coin. The Democrats endeavored to make them payable in greenbacks, but the Republicans deteated this desire and have since redeemed them all in gold. The second issue of bonds was sixteen millions ot 5.20s, which the Democrats, cooperating with Thad. Stevens and Judge Trumbull, succeeded in having figures fall below those of 1877. made payable in greenbacks. In 1869 n bill was introduced in Congress to pay these 5-20s in gold. The bill was passed and by it the Government debt was increased about alx hundred millions of dollars. In June 1870, Mr. Randall, Demo ernt from Pennsylvanin, introduced a bill to lesue $300,000,000 of greenbacks end retire a like amount of National Bank notes. This was de- present season will amount to more thing is hardly known. Below can be lound a flattering feated by the Republicans in the than an average yield. Harvest has Sennte. In the same year Mr. Mor. already begnn. gnn, of Ohio, introduced a bill to issuc $400,000,000 legal tender greenbacks. This was defeated by the Reof the strictest integrity, possessing publican Senate. In 1873 the infamous resumption act was passed by this vote, AYES, 168 Republicans; NOES, every Democrat in Congress. In 1876, the Democrats for the first time having a majority in the House, repealed the resumption act, but the Republican Senate dld uot concur.

Now if sensible men will read and effect on this record of the Democratic party how can they lenve it to take aides with the greenback party which at best can effect nothing in legislation for many years to come? Do not be Impatient, good Democrats, hold to your party until It shall have elected n President and you can be made to realize that the Demo. eratic purty will accomplish more definitely, more peacefully, more offectively the same reliet as Is promlsed by the Greenback party. Now as your perty nears the control of power would it not be rash, foolish and inpolitie to split off from your party? Asa Packer.

|Scientific American. Judge Asa Packer, President of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company and ionuder of the Lehigh Universiand ionnder of the Lehlgh University, died at Philadelphia Saturday. May 27. He was born in New London county, Conn., December 29, 1805, and at the age of seventeen, with no inheritance save a sound traine, an earnest purpose, and sterling character, sel out to make his way in the world. He journeyed on foot to Susquehanna county, Pn., where he apprended himself to a carpenter. When master of his trade ho married, and spent a number of years farming a pleee of land owned by his wife's father. Tiring of that occupation, the young couple removed to Manch Chunk, where Mr. Packer took command of a canal boat, and engaged in the business of transporting coal. In a couple of years he was able to build himself a boat null enter into a profitable parinership with his brother. In 1840-43, he and his brother were building Foats at Pottsville to earry coals to lie and lils brother were building foats at Pottsville to earry coals to New York by the Schuylkill navigation system. Later, Mr. Packer took up the double enterprise of mining as well as transporting coal. In 1852 he began the glgantle undertaking of building the Lehigh Valley Rallroad, which was finished in 1855, and, with its branches, opened up the entire anthracte region of Pennsylvania. As Mr. Packer had foreseen, the rallway at once er had foreseen the rallway at once gave an enormous impetus to the coal mining business, and developed other interests and industries pro-

the Lehigh University, an institution designed with special reterence to the needs of young men preparing to underlake the great mining, manufacturing, and other material inter-ests of the country. In its course of sindles the chief places are assigned sindles the chief places are assigned to civil, mining, and mechanical en-gineering and other departments of practical and industral science. To the endowment of this institution

Mr. Packer's personal life was marked by exceptional gentleness, hindness, simplicity, and sincerity. He made many friends and retained them to the end. His entire career exemplified not only the highest type of success in personal and practical affairs, but paid the highest tribute to the institutions under which he lived, which made it possible for one, with which made it possible for one, with-on, wealth or family luftnense to be-gin with, lo gain great wealth by honorable means, to benefit his age and country, and to leave behind him monuments that must make his life grandly productive through many generations.

Some years ago, at a meeting of eminent Pennsylvanians, Colonel J. W. Forney pronounced an eloquent tribule to Mr. Packer's life and charnetr, worthy of recalling at this time.

The said:

Manufacturing all grades, kinds, and pasterness of the said structures. In please, kinds, and pasterness of the said structures of the said structures. Manufacturing all grades, kinds, and pasterness of the said structures of the said structures. Manufacturing all grades, kinds, and pasterness of the said structures of the said structure

"Here is a character for youth and manhood to study. Here is a lesson to the one to more on in the path of improvement, and a stimulant to the other never to despair in the darkest hour of disaster and misfortune. We pick ont Asa Packer as the miner picks ont a piece of coal to snow the value of the precious deposit from which it is taken; we pick him out to show what can be won by personal honesty, industry, and kindness to men; by courage in the midst of bad luck, by confidence in the midst of whomy prophery by modesty in gloomy prophecy, by modesty in prosperity, and by princely generos-ity when fortune comes with both hands full to realize a just ambition.

Mr. Packer's whole career exemplifies the truth that in the United States there is no distinction to which nny young man may not attain. When ho set out from Mystic, Conn., to make the journey to Pennsylvania on foot it is not probable that his entire worldly possessions amounted to $20. These possions are estimated at $20,000,000, all of which has been accumulated so for as known within mulaled, so far as known, without wronging a slagle individual."
